IN-PERSON EVENTS

Art Market San Francisco
Fort Mason, San Francisco
Thursday, September 30, to Sunday, October 3
Art Market San Francisco, the Bay Area’s leading modern and contemporary art fair, returns to Fort Mason from September 30 to October 3 for its 10th edition. Art Market features presentations by 85 top galleries from around the world, for enjoyment and acquisition. KQED members can access a pair of complimentary, one-day tickets at https://bit.ly/3xBGq0H artmarketsf.com

Flower Piano
San Francisco Botanical Garden
Friday, September 17 to Tuesday, September 21
Flower Piano is back! The SF Botanical Garden and Sunset Piano are excited to present one of the most creative events in the Bay Area from September 17 to 21. Flower Piano will transform the Botanical Garden once again into the city’s own alfresco concert hall where everyone is invited to play and listen. KQED members receive a 10 percent discount at the Garden Bookstore and Plant Arbor during Flower Piano. For tickets and more information, please go to sfbg.org.

Grand Opening Celebration POSTPONED
With COVID-19 cases rising and measures to mitigate spread being reinstated by local authorities, KQED is postponing our Grand Opening celebration, previously scheduled for September 25. KQED takes the health and well-being of our audience, staff and partners seriously. As such, we know the right thing to do is to save a gathering of this scale and nature for another day. However, we will continue to host smaller, more adaptable KQED Live events in our new headquarters. Visit kqed.org/live for details and tickets.

Feed your foodie soul with Check, Please! You Gotta Try This!, KQED’s new spin-off series hosted by Leslie Sbrocco. Listen in as locals reveal their recommendations for the most delectable dishes in the Bay Area — from tasty appetizers and entrees to sinful desserts. These are the foods people love so much they’d stand happily in a long line to savor. And if you’re wondering why something is so delicious, the chefs will take us into their kitchens to see what’s in a dish and how it’s made, as well as share the stories behind them. Each episode is capped off by Cecilia Phillips, our ravenous roving reporter, who’s on the road to discover the Bay’s best off-the-grid dining spots.

You can catch Check, Please! You Gotta Try This! on Thursdays starting September 9 through October 28 at 7:30pm on KQED 9. Here’s a taste of what you’ll see.

September 9 (featuring special celebrity guests!)
- Grammy-winning singer-songwriter Fantastic Negrito samples the savory Omu Curry, a jet-black curry served on top of omurice, at Dela Curo (Oakland)
- Award-winning director and actor Margo Hall delights in the iconic Chicken Milanese at Garibaldis Restaurant (Presidio)
- Oakland Roots soccer player Max Ornstil joins 50 years of devotees of the Chocolate & Vanilla Frozen Yogurt at Yogurt Park (Berkeley)

September 16
- Flavorful Brussel Sprout Tacos with garam masala-spiced pepitas and yogurt dressing at Paper Plane (San Jose)
- House-made Italian comfort food Asiago Roasted Zucchini Ravioli at Ravioli House (San Mateo)
- Pacifica Brewery’s PB Burger, where beer onions meet sharp cheddar on a handmade pretzel bun (Pacifica)

September 23
- A unique Beef Hot Dog with Hawaiian flair at Altamont General Store (Occidental)
- Italian cuisine meets Indian flavors with “The Best Indian Pizza — Vegetarian” at Zante Pizza & Indian Cuisine (San Francisco)
- Taiwan Bento’s Fried Pork Chop Bento, the ultimate Taiwanese comfort food (Oakland)

September 30
- Sweet, flaky Kouign Amann at Arsicault Bakery (San Francisco)
- Mouth-watering, fresh Crispy La Calaca Loca Especial Grilled Pescado Tacos at La Calaca Loca Taqueria (Oakland)

KQED Newsroom Returns!

Our powerhouse current events show, KQED Newsroom, returns with a weekly focus on what’s what and who’s who in the Golden State from a Northern California perspective. Each week, the Emmy® Award-winning program rounds up the latest California news alongside analysis and insight from political experts, environmental reporters and well-known columnists. Broadcasting from our newly renovated studios, the new season launches on Friday, September 10, at 7pm on KQED 9.

PODCASTS

What are the best podcasts to listen to right now? We asked Amielle Major, KQED’s Audience Engagement Producer. Here are her picks.

STARTER EPISODE
“Grades Have a Huge Impact, But Are They Effective?”
KQED’s MindShift explores the future of learning and how we raise our kids. Our newest episode looks at how the coronavirus pandemic (and high school students failing classes at great rates) prompted educators to re-evaluate how they grade. We debunk common grading myths and suggest possible new directions.

STARTER EPISODE
“July 16, 1996”
In The Dark is an investigative podcast from APM Reports. Season 2 explores the case of Curtis Flowers, a Black man from Mississippi who was tried six times for the same crime. He spent more than 20 years fighting for his life and his exoneration. Episode 1 sets up the crime and the scope of APM’s year-long investigation.

STARTER EPISODE
“The Big Shadoo”
The Improvement Association investigates the power of election fraud allegations by focusing on a cheating scandal in Bladen County, North Carolina. This first episode starts with reporter Zoe Chace receiving an invitation to visit the state from the leader of a Black political advocacy group whose name was dragged into the scandal.

Don't Miss This

Take a time machine back to the glitzy 1920s with the newest season of Frankie Drake Mysteries. The swinging music and glamorous costumes will have you instantly transported into Frankie’s world. Frankie is joined by her talented partner, Trudy Clarke, and aided by ambitious morality officer Mary Shaw, as well as morgue attendant and aspiring doctor Flo Chakowitz. Watch as Frankie and her associates dive into the seedy underworld of Toronto, sniff out the bad guys and fight for recognition in their fields. It’s impossible not to root for these women! Season 4 will be available for streaming for KQED Passport members starting September 3, before it comes to broadcast later this year. You can also catch up with all the previous seasons, available on KQED Passport.

This Old House
I’m not a boxing fan, but I am a major admirer of Muhammad Ali. He was a sports superstar: a three-time World Heavyweight Champion, winner of an Olympic gold medal and, in 1999, crowned “Sportsman of the Century” by Sports Illustrated and the BBC. Clearly, he was the greatest, as he boldly told us, but for me it’s about the person as well as the profession. Authentically himself, Ali stood up for what he believed in regardless of the personal cost. He stepped out of the box(ing ring) to become a political activist, philanthropist, a humanitarian and much more. The man was a knockout.

Now, in a new docuseries, Ken Burns, Sarah Burns, and David McMahon take a major new look at Ali’s life. Muhammad Ali airs in four “rounds” beginning on Sunday, September 19, at 8pm on KQED 9 and again at 10:15pm and continues daily through Wednesday at 8pm and 10pm. Don’t miss this look at what it means to be a stellar sports star — in and out of the ring.

—Ellyn Hament

DID YOU KNOW? MUHAMMAD ALI

- He was a Grammy nominee twice for spoken-word albums: “I Am the Greatest,” considered by some to be an early example of rap and a precursor to hip-hop, and a kids’ album called “The Adventures of Ali and His Gang vs. Mr. Tooth Decay.” He also recorded “Stand by Me” with Sam Cooke.
- Ali was very interested in magic. Also, there are unconfirmed reports that he could levitate people.
- He was scared of flying. After fighting (and winning) in San Francisco, he pawned the watch he won for a train ticket back to Kentucky to avoid getting on a plane. —Sophie Kim and NY Vinnie Richichi

COMING IN OCTOBER

Call the Midwife: Season 10

Watch your October issue for dates and times

Season 10 is here bringing with it change, excitement and challenges. It’s 1966 and the women’s rights movement is intensifying. Sister Julienne is determined to lift Nonnatus House out of its financial woes. Dr. Turner deals with difficult cases. Sister Monica Joan experiences a crisis of faith. And Sister Frances realizes she needs to make some changes to better connect with local women.

The Future of Work

► Wednesday, September 1, at 10pm on KQED 9

The working world was tossed upside down in 2020. Is the promise of employment — part of the American Dream — still the future of work? This three-part series (also on 9/8 and 9/15) takes on our new industrial revolution, futureproofing and how work and workers are changing.

SATURDAY NIGHT MOVIE

Shine

Saturday, September 18, at 8pm on KQED 9

Inspired by Polish-Australian pianist David Helfgott, Shine is a biopic of the musical prodigy’s formative years, his struggle with mental illness and his often-difficult relationship with his father. Geoffrey Rush, who portrayed Helfgott, won an Academy Award for Best Actor in 1997, for his performance in the lead role.
