JANUARY LINEUP

The Big Payback with Erika Alexander & Whitney Dow
Thursday, January 12, at 7pm, in Person: $10
Actress-activist Erika Alexander (Living Single) and filmmaker Whitney Dow (Two Towns of Jasper) present a preview of their new PBS documentary The Big Payback, which looks at the first tax-funded reparations bill in the United States and at one local leader as she and her community struggle to realize restitution for its citizens. Alexander and Dow join California leaders and KQED to discuss how reparations for slavery are being devised and enacted at the state and local levels.

A Royal Walk with the King Tides
Sunday, January 22, at 11am, in Person: Free at San Francisco’s Embarcadero and East Palo Alto’s Cooley Landing
Join Exploratorium educators, KQED climate reporters, Grassroots Ecology and Port of San Francisco staff for a stroll along the waterfront at San Francisco’s Embarcadero and East Palo Alto’s Cooley Landing to observe, photograph and discuss the king tide. Find out what causes the tides and why we have king tides at this time of year, and learn about sea level rise and resilience projects. We’ll meet rain or shine and hope to get a little splash in!

KQED Roller Disco
Wednesday, January 25, at 7pm, in Person: $25 at San Francisco’s Church of 8 Wheels
Come skate the night away with KQED Live at the Church of 8 Wheels! Whether you’re an expert on eight wheels or a wobbly legged novice, you’re invited to join us as we take over the San Francisco roller disco epicenter for one night only. Come learn about the history and quirky cultures of rollerskating in the Bay Area and give it a whirl yourself! We’ll have instruction, demos from Rollerdance and skating for the whole family.

The Bay Area Stars in a New Antiques Roadshow Episode

Part adventure, part history lesson and part treasure hunt, Antiques Roadshow is the show where people bring what they hope are treasures to be appraised by experts. One of the most enduring (27 seasons!) and beloved PBS series, the show reveals winners and losers: people who discover that their objects, often heirlooms, are worth way more than they imagined or, sadly, much less.

Produced by PBS member station GBH in Boston, the show traveled to the Bay Area last June to tape episodes at Filoli Historic House and Gardens in Woodside. As the local host, KQED staff and more than 100 volunteers attended the 12-hour taping. Over the course of the day, we welcomed more than 2,500 attendees at check-in; hosted a KQED booth where staff handed out swag; and, in the spirit of the event, created a mini museum featuring pledge and member gifts and trinkets from KQED’s nearly 70-year history.

Antiques Roadshow episodes at Filoli will premiere on January 2, 9, and 16, at 8pm on KQED 9 and will also stream on the PBS Video App. Sink into your sofa and see what your Bay Area neighbors bring to this fun show, hear the stories and history behind the objects and discover what they’re worth.

Check, Please! Bay Area Serves Up Six Tasty New Episodes

Hungry for more Check, Please! Bay Area? Host Leslie Sbrocco returns this month to chat with local guests and to introduce you to your next favorite Bay Area dining destination. In each episode of the award-winning series, Bay Area residents recommend their favorite place to eat and the other guests visit to check it out then join Sbrocco to discuss, debate and dish on their dining experiences. At the end of each episode, reporter Cecilia Phillips samples a fun, off-the-beaten-path locale to uncover some delightful foods. From plant-based comfort fare in Oakland to island vibes and tropical specialties in Vallejo, shareable Turkish meze in San Francisco to hog heaven in Petaluma, we’ve scoured the Bay for the best bites so you don’t have to. Catch the new episodes on Thursdays beginning January 12, at 7:30pm on KQED 9 through February 16. See all Check, Please! Bay Area listings, starting on page 13, for the names of the eateries in each episode.

Rebecca Solnit Speaks About Her Climate Project at KQED Live

Rebecca Solnit is one of the Bay Area’s most respected writers, but even that introduction may be an understatement; Solnit could also be called one of the region’s most respected historians, activists and thinkers. Her more than 20 books include Men Explain Things to Me, Hope in the Dark, Orwell’s Roses and A Field Guide to Getting Lost. This past summer, Solnit came to KQED Live, our event series, to discuss the launch of her climate project called Not Too Late, which invites newcomers to the climate movement and provides climate facts and encouragement for people “who are already engaged but weary.” We revisit that conversation at another time of weary engagement, the first week of the year. Here’s one more description for Solnit: not to be missed.

Rebecca Solnit at KQED Live airs Wednesday, January 4, at 10pm with a repeat on Thursday, January 5, at 1am. Listen on KQED Public Radio 88.5 FM or stream it on the KQED App.

PODCASTS

What are the best podcasts to listen to right now? We asked KQED Podcasts Engagement Producer César Saldaña for his recommendations.

STARTER EPISODE

“Jada Imani on Vibing with Hawaiian Frogs and Riffing Off Mac Dre”

An arts and culture podcast about the Bay Area, Rightnowish never ceases to entertain and educate. In this episode, Neo-soul and hip-hop artist Jada Imani gets her inspiration from a range of lived experiences: parking tickets, lessons from her parents and Mac Dre lyrics.

STARTER EPISODE

“Open Adoption, Not So Simple Math”

Celebrities voice stories about love of all kinds in Modern Love, a collaboration between the New York Times and WBUR. For a good cry, listen to Sarah Paulson read the profoundly moving story “Open Adoption, Not So Simple Math” about a birth-mother’s experience with adoption and loving her son.

STARTER EPISODE

“Big Butt Politics”

Co-produced by WBUR and Futuro Studios and hosted by Maria Garcia, Anything for Selena focuses on how the late Selena Quintanilla became an icon for Latino youth in the U.S. The episode “Big Butt Politics” analyzes the intersection of body politics, Latino culture, family and Selena’s “big butt.”
Activate Your Passport Benefit

Sustaining members and donors at the $60/year level can choose from more than 2,000 exclusive KQED and PBS shows in our on-demand library with KQED Passport.

Passport Pick

Inspector Lewis
The Passport library keeps growing with more and more streaming videos added each month. In addition to new programs such as All Creatures Great and Small on MASTERPIECE (get ready to binge the new season on January 8 and keep the tissue box handy!), we’re also excited for some old favorites to return for streaming. One of my personal favorites is Inspector Lewis, which is back for KQED Passport members with all eight seasons available now. You can stay in the world of Oxford mysteries for weeks since all eight seasons of Endeavour are available, too. You can find these shows and many, many more by clicking Shows on your main Passport page and sorting for Drama, or by searching for the program title.

—Meredith Speight, Director, TV Programming

Passport Binge

Love, Inevitably on Walter Presents
Beginning on January 5, binge this new 10-episode Spanish- and Italian-language drama (with English subtitles) in KQED Passport. Businessman Massimo has never taken a risk in his life. Flamenco dancer Candela is a free spirit who takes each day as it comes. Each one of them has ongoing visions of the other after they accidentally bump into each other at the Prague airport.

Can’t Wait?

Miss Scarlet and the Duke, Season 3, premieres on MASTERPIECE on January 8, but KQED Passport members can already stream all episodes. (And starting January 8, the new seasons of All Creatures Great and Small on MASTERPIECE and Vienna Blood will be available, too.)

How did hip-hop music quickly become an influential artistic genre and cultural movement? Fight the Power: How Hip Hop Changed the World, featuring rap icon Chuck D, is a four-part documentary series that recounts hip-hop history and unpacks how the art form became a vessel for political expression and social justice. As the co-founder of the prominent hip-hop group Public Enemy whose groundbreaking 1989 single “Fight the Power” became an anthem that called for unity against oppression, Chuck D’s music dispatches lessons in Black history and consciousness while striving to dismantle racial constructs. The docuseries weaves interconnected moments together through archival footage and intimate interviews with hip-hop luminaries including Grandmaster Caz, Ice-T, Melle Mel, Fat Joe, Lupe Fiasco, Run DMC and others. Fight the Power: How Hip Hop Changed the World premieres on Tuesday, January 31, at 9pm on KQED 9.

— Sophie Kim, Editorial and Production Assistant

To commemorate hip-hop’s 50th anniversary, KQED is launching: That’s My Word: The Influential, Underrecognized History of Bay Area Hip-Hop, a year-long multimedia project to explore the history of the Bay Area’s crucial contributions to the evolution of hip-hop. Though hip-hop has become the most dominant musical genre of this century, the Bay Area’s impact on the culture has largely been ignored — until now. Featuring articles, profiles and interviews with iconic Bay Area rap artists, playlists, an interactive timeline, videos, a podcast series and KQED Live events, check out bayareahiphop.com beginning in February 2023 to follow this project.

Dogs in the Wild, a Nature Miniseries
Premieres February 8

This ambitious miniseries travels the globe to reveal the secrets of canids, the most successful carnivore on the planet. From recognizable foxes, wolves, African wild dogs and coyotes, to the lesser-known Japanese raccoon dog, New Guinea singing dog, dholes and dingoes, see the canids who’ve conquered every continent except Antarctica.

DID YOU KNOW? Bay Area Hip-Hop History
- Tupac Shakur lived in Marin City and attended Mt. Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.
- Years before he became an international sensation with “Can’t Touch This” and “2 Legit 2 Quit,” Oakland rapper MC Hammer earned his nickname as an 11-year-old bat boy for the Oakland A’s.
- One-third of the iconic New York trio A Tribe Called Quest, Phife Dawg spent his final years in Antioch before he passed away in 2016 at the age of 45.

COMING IN FEBRUARY

Dirty Rotten Scoundrels

Saturday, January 14, at 8pm on KQED 9

Con artist Lawrence Jamieson (Michael Caine) is a longtime resident of a luxurious coastal resort. He enjoys the fruits of his deceptions until Freddy Benson (Steve Martin) shows up. Benson’s own lowbrow tactics impinge on Jamieson’s work, so he resolves to get rid of him in this 1988 comedy-crime film.

Mr. Bean

Saturday, January 7, at 8pm on KQED Plus

Follow the quirky and loveable Mr. Bean, played by Rowan Atkinson, who tries to extricate himself from embarrassing situations but only ends up making things hilariously worse. In this episode, he messes up during a math exam, at the beach and during a church service, where he can’t seem to stay awake.

Nature: Soul of the Ocean

Wednesday, January 25, at 8pm on KQED 9

What is the ocean really like? Spectacular underwater cinematography reveals communities of interdependent marine species and highlights the critical role biodiversity plays in maintaining a healthy ocean. Tune in to see an array of sea creatures, including humpback whales, manta rays, moon jellyfish, opalescent squid, sardines, sea turtles and more.
