Take a Daily KQED Radio Challenge and Win a Prize

Are you a fan of KQED Public Radio 88.5 FM? If so, how well do you know the news? Show your smarts by taking a daily, fresh challenge beginning in early July. Tune in at 5pm — on air or on KQED’s mobile app — to hear a question featuring conversations from your favorite KQED shows, including Morning Edition, Forum, Here & Now and All Things Considered. Then head to kqed.org/radiomiraclequiz and submit your answer. Correct responses give you a shot at the monthly grand prize. Listen in then show us what you know.

PODCASTS

What are the best podcasts to listen to right now?

We asked KQED Podcasts Editor/Producer Chris Egusa for his recommendations.

STARTER EPISODE

“The End of Alameda County’s Eviction Moratorium”

The Bay, KQED’s local news podcast, tackles the thorny issue of a pandemic-era eviction moratorium ending. In conversation with host Ericka Cruz Guevarra, KQED Housing Reporter Vanessa Rancaño expertly guides us through the perspectives and politics of evictions restarting and what that means for people. Local, real and relevant — a great example of The Bay at its best.

STARTER EPISODE

“The Case”

This Land is a riveting narrative podcast told by Rebecca Nagle, journalist and citizen of the Cherokee Nation. It begins with a murder on Indigenous land in Oklahoma, but opens up to the questions of sovereignty that swirl around the case, as well as the history that brought us here. It follows the case to a 2020 Supreme Court decision that determined the future of five tribes and nearly half the land in Oklahoma.

STARTER EPISODE

“Myself Hochman”

Each week on the six-minute Sights and Sounds, the delightful Jenee Darden talks to local artists and gets their recommendations on what to do, see and hear around the Bay Area. I turn to it whenever I’m looking for something new to check out on the weekend. In this recent episode, aerialist Myles Hochman recommends an acrobatics show, a film festival and an ice cream parlor with uniquely delicious flavors.

Don’t Miss This

Doc Martin, Season 9
If you’re like me and have been yearning to step back into the charming world of Portwenn, you don’t have to wait any longer. Martin Clunes is delightful as ever as Doc Martin, the quirky but loveable doctor for a picturesque Cornish village. This season, Martin has to deal with increased scrutiny from the General Medical Council following complaints about his approach to patients. Meanwhile, his wife Louisa adjusts to her new career in child counseling. For me, Doc Martin is the ultimate comfort watch and I’m thrilled to add Season 9 to my rotation. The newest season will premiere on broadcast on July 11, but Passport members get exclusive early access to all episodes starting July 1. —Emma Casley, KQED TV Programming Associate

Music and Fireworks Light Up A Capitol Fourth

The July 4 holiday means different things to all of us. If observing it is something you do, there are plenty of ways to do it — from barbecuing to watching fireworks to simply reflecting on the past or current state of our country. If you prefer a quiet, at-home kind of July 4 celebration listening to music and seeing spectacular fireworks from afar, you’ll want to catch A Capitol Fourth, America’s national Independence Day celebration.

This year marks the 43rd annual edition of A Capitol Fourth, which will be hosted by actor/television director/dancer and Broadway star Alfonso Ribeiro. Joining Ribeiro will be stars from various musical genres. They include: Babyface; Belinda Carlisle; Boyz II Men; Chicago; Charles Esten; Renée Fleming; Maddie & Tae; the cast from Broadway’s The Neil Diamond Musical: A Beautiful Noise; the Northwell Health Nurse Choir of frontline workers; and the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of top Pops conductor Jack Everly. In addition to the fireworks, the event will also pay tribute to frontline workers, people in uniform and their families, and others.

You can catch the show on KQED 9 on July 4 at 8pm and 9:32pm, or stream it on Passport for a limited time from July 4 to July 18, 2023.

DID YOU KNOW? July 4

- John Adams, age 90, and Thomas Jefferson, age 82, both died on July 4, 1826, within five hours of each other on the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.
- In an 1852 speech, Black American social reformer, abolitionist, orator, writer and statesman Frederick Douglass wrote the following about July 4: “What, to the American slave, is your Fourth of July? I answer: a day that reveals to him, more than all other days in the year, the gross injustice and cruelty to which he is the constant victim.”
- The tradition of setting off fireworks on July 4 began in Philadelphia on July 4, 1777, during the first organized celebration of Independence Day. Ships’ cannons fired a 13-gun salute in honor of the 13 colonies.

COMING IN AUGUST

Once Upon a Time in Northern Ireland

This five-part film set in Northern Ireland explores the decades-long conflict known as “The Troubles.” The series tells the story through intimate testimonies from ordinary men, women and children who were drawn — both willingly and unwillingly — into the bitter clashes that rocked the nation, and their struggles to hold onto a fragile peace today.

Human Footprint

> Wednesday, July 5, at 9pm on KQED 9

In this new, six-part documentary series, Biologist and Princeton University Professor Shane Campbell-Staton attempts to understand all the ways humans have transformed the planet. An honest reckoning with our vast footprint and our species’ history, it’s both a science and travel show taking viewers from pristine rainforests to New York City sewers.

POV: Liquor Store Dreams

Monday, July 10, at 10pm on KQED 9

Follow two Korean American children of liquor store owners in Los Angeles as they reconcile their dreams with those of their immigrant parents. The documentary confronts the complex legacies of LA’s racial landscape, including a deeper look at the 1991 murder of Latasha Harlins and the 1992 uprisings sparked by the police beating of Rodney King.

Miriam and Alan: Lost in Scotland

Tuesday, July 11, at 9pm on KQED Plus

A year older (but not necessarily wiser), Miriam Margolyes, Alan Cumming and Alan’s dog Lala rediscover more of their Scottish roots. This time, they journey across the pond to America, where they’ve also found a home. While in the States, they go on an epic road trip through Los Angeles, Palm Springs and Las Vegas.
Saturday Night Movie: WarGames
► Saturday, July 15, at 8pm on KQED 9

High school student David Lightman (Matthew Broderick) unwittingly hacks into a military supercomputer while searching for new video games. Clueless at first, he realizes his error, and he and his girlfriend (Ally Sheedy) must find a way to alert the government to stop the onset of World War III.
