Moments in Time: 70 Years at KQED

KQED public media has been serving the San Francisco Bay Area for 70 years, taking people of all ages on journeys to discover new communities, places and ideas. To celebrate our anniversary this year, we're revisiting memorable moments from the past.

Sesame Street debuted on public media stations nationwide on November 10, 1969. Created to “master the addictive qualities of television and do something good with them,” such as helping young children prepare for school, the program featured a timeless cast of characters, including Big Bird, Oscar the Grouch, and Bert and Ernie.

COMING IN DECEMBER

Hijos del Desierto, Season 2

Check your December issue for dates and times

Translated as “Sons of the Desert,” this popular Chilean drama returns with 10 new episodes. In Season 2, we learn more about the tragic tale of two brothers who were forcibly separated in their youth, grew up to be on opposite sides of the law and fell in love with the same woman. In Spanish with English subtitles.

WHAT TO WATCH

A True Renaissance Man's Profound Influence on Future Generations

The Last Supper circa 1494–1498 by Leonardo da Vinci.

Growing up Filipino American in a Catholic household, I have an image burned into my memory of a framed print of Leonardo da Vinci's The Last Supper, which hung as a focal point in my grandparent's kitchen. Every time I was in the same room as the painting, I'd stare at it, analyzing it while preparing my cheesy pan de sal for breakfast or quietly enjoying its company during a lively family party. I took comfort in how prominent it was in my family's home and later realized (thanks to social media) that The Last Supper is a quintessential piece of art that many Catholic Filipino families have in their homes. Now, as an adult, I take comfort in knowing that my relationship with The Last Supper is something that bonds me with other Filipinos. This piece of artwork has made such an impression on our culture, and it's just one of the everlasting contributions Leonardo left for humanity to study. It comes as no surprise that the iconic 15th-century polymath is Ken Burns' first non-American subject in this new two-part, four-hour documentary co-directed by Sarah Burns and David McMahon.

The film follows the artist's evolution as a draftsman, painter, scientist and engineer who used notebooks to explore an astonishing array of subjects, including philosophy, engineering, warfare, anatomy and geography. Although Leonardo's paintings and notebooks tell us much about how he saw the world, we know surprisingly little about his inner life or what he thought about himself and others. We do know, however, that Leonardo explored science beyond the human body. He wrote in one of his notebooks that "Gravity is limited to the elements of water and earth; but this force is unlimited, and it could be used to move infinite worlds if instruments could be made by which the force could be generated." In one experiment, he used nothing more than a jar filled with sand to help him roughly calculate the earth's gravitational constant. It would be a century before Galileo's experiments proved gravity's universal effect on objects and far longer before Isaac Newton and Albert Einstein would use calculus — not yet invented in Leonardo's time — to define and explain gravity.

Immerse yourself in the life of the legend who, as Ken Burns puts it, "had a unique genius for inquiry, aided by his extraordinary skills as an artist and scientist, that helps us better understand the natural world that we are part of and to appreciate more fully what it means to be alive and human." Leonardo da Vinci airs over two consecutive nights: Monday, November 18, and Tuesday, November 19, at both 8pm and 10pm on KQED 9. Viewers can also stream directly from the KQED App.

New Series Premiere on PBS Kids

Carl the Collector
Thursday, November 14

Follow the everyday adventures of Carl, an autistic raccoon who loves collecting things. Although Carl is energetic, logical and precise, he also struggles with anxiety in new situations and has difficulty coping when things don't go as planned. But like all his friends, he's learning how to be himself.

SATURDAY NIGHT MOVIE

Heaven Can Wait

Saturday, November 2,
at 8pm on KQED 9

In this 1978 film, the soul of pro quarterback Joe Pendleton (Warren Beatty) is prematurely taken from his body by an overanxious angel. Instead of being able to return to his original body, Joe assumes the form of an unpopular millionaire whose wife is trying to kill him.

CHECK, PLEASE! BAY AREA

► Thursday, November 7, at 7:30pm on KQED 9

The popular series is back with four new episodes. Kicking off with elevated comfort food, diners start at Lafayette's The Hideout Kitchen for honey fried chicken and mascarpone toast. Then it's time for birria bacon cheeseburgers at San Jose's Tostadas and fiery hot pots at Oakland's Pixiu Mala Hongtang. The deliciousness continues each week, so keep tuning in!

HOWARDS END ON MASTERPIECE

► Sunday, November 10, at 8pm on KQED 9
From Academy Award-winning screenwriter Kenneth Lonergan (Manchester by the Sea) comes a fresh take on E.M. Forster's classic novel. A single season with four episodes, Howards End is a portrait of two imaginative and life-loving sisters in Edwardian England as they develop relationships within both the upper and lower classes.

GOOD KARMA HOSPITAL

Wanting to escape a broken relationship and a stressful career in the UK, Dr. Ruby Walker (Amrita Acharia, Game of Thrones) takes a job in India. Not finding anything close to what she was expecting, Ruby ends up at the overcrowded and underfunded Good Karma Hospital run by the formidable Dr. Lydia Fonseca (Amanda Redman, who starred in the viewer-favorite series New Tricks). After the initial culture shock, Ruby learns to deal with the hospital's demanding schedule and many eccentric inhabitants. We're so excited to bring this popular and highly rated series to Bay Area viewers this month. Passport members can watch ahead and binge the first two seasons now. —Meredith Speight, Director, TV Programming
